

Introduction to the internet(110606)*(3credit hours)

This course helps to develop the student's skills in using the internet as such a thing helps him find a job in the modern society. Through this course, the student will be able to use the internet and surf the website which assists in: getting information, using the e-mail, trading electronically, being aware of using technology in infrastructure, and finally creating his own website page.