

102222 Introduction to Linguistics (3 CHs)(P 102105)

In addition to defining the different branches of linguistics, this course introduces the students to language as a communicative system and a human behavior related to other fields of knowledge. Applications are conducted in English (and Arabic when necessary).