

102231 Introduction to English Literature (3 CHs) (P 102105)

As a prerequisite to any other literature course, this course gives an introduction to literature, literary trends, terms, types, and dimensions. The course also gives a brief view of the historical development of English literature. Literary texts are presented in modern English so as to be easily comprehended by beginning students of literature