

108424 Stylistics (3 CH)

This course is an introduction to stylistics where students are acquainted with the idea of the language as a system and subsystems. The course touches on styles that differ with different cultures, idiolects and dialects, language variations, register theory, literary style and linguistic comparison and contrast of styles. The student in this course is drilled on the same mentioned rubrics through relevant analytical and critical exercise